Dear Brian,

Proud, honored, and filled with exhilaration. Those are some of the feelings that welled up in me as I stood in front of the room looking out at our first group of Community Ambassadors. Proud to be part of this organization that we all care for. Honored to be surrounded by a group of people that deserve such respect and thanks for all that you do. Exhilarated because together, we really can make a bigger difference in lives than ever before.

Twenty nine of you were able to attend last week's meeting. Four of you couldn't come, but we're looking forward to bringing you on board soon with this Solutions in Sight Public Awareness Campaign. By channeling the energy that was in that room, and the dedication we all share, we can focus on new ways to reach and to serve people that need our services.

As we embark on this new chapter in volunteering, please call, email, or stop by my office if you have any additional thoughts or ideas. I'd like to set up small meetings (maybe over a simple lunch) and invite those of you who share similar interests to come and brainstorm some ideas. We'll schedule these meetings soon, and I hope you can come!

Sincerely,

Michelle Sheridan
